Stay Committed to Nation-Building through Engineering Skills: Rinaj Pathan

- National Engineers' Day celebrated with enthusiasm at PMRDA Headquarters
- Officers and engineers of engineering departments take pledge of dedication

Pune: Today's generation of engineers should draw inspiration from the work, vision, and dedication of Bharat Ratna Sir M. Visvesvaraya to make their utmost contribution toward building a strong Pune metropolis as well as the nation, stated Rinaj Pathan, Chief Engineer (Special Projects) of the Pune Metropolitan Region Development Authority (PMRDA).

She was speaking at the National Engineers' Day program organized at the PMRDA headquarters in Akurdi. The event commenced with Rinaj Pathan paying floral tributes to the portrait of Bharat Ratna Sir M. Visvesvaraya. Officiating Chief Engineer (Road Department) Shivprasad Bagdi, Officiating Superintending Engineer Abhiman Bhosale, along with a large number of senior officers and engineers from PMRDA's engineering departments, were present on the occasion.

During the event, officers and engineers took a pledge to remain ever-ready for nation-building and to complete all works with quality and within deadlines. Confidence was expressed that PMRDA's entire engineering workforce will stay committed to building a developed Pune metropolis and nation using engineering skills, integrity, and modern technology.
